DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Clevenger et al. (5,161,945).

Clevenger discloses a seal assembly for a turbine (Figs. 1-8) comprising first and second generally abutting turbine components (see marked up Fig. 2 at the end of this Office Action); a sealing plate 78 (Fig. 3); a spring 64 on one side of the sealing plate; a honeycomb seal 98 on an opposite side of the plate; the spring bearing against the second component and biasing the honeycomb seal into sealing engagement with the first component; wherein the spring is preloaded for disposition between the first and second component (Fig. 3).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Clevenger et al.

Art Unit: 3745

Clevenger discloses all the limitations except the spring does not comprise a bellows as claimed.

Since the applicant has not disclosed that having the spring comprising a bellows solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose above the fact that the spring biases the seal assembly toward the first turbine component, and it appears that the spring of Clevenger would perform equally well with the shape as defined claimed by applicant, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to modify the spring of Clevenger by utilizing the specific shape as claimed.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 2 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

6. Claims 6-12 are allowed. The claims direct to a non-obvious improvement over the invention patented in Pat. No. 5,797,723. The improvements are the second surface of the turbine shroud has a recess with a seal assembly disposed therein; wherein the one of an abradable coating and a honeycomb seal on a side of sealing plate opposite from the spring side.

Prior Art

The prior art made of record but not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure and consists of 1 patent.

Turnquist et al. (6,547,522) is cited to show a turbine seal assembly.
